Projects

Title: Charcha With Rucha

Build a video streaming platform similar to YouTube, where users can watch videos categorized into different genres like music and sports. Each category has subcategories to help users find specific content, such as pop and classic under music, and cricket and football under sports. What's unique about this platform is that it's available in three languages: Marathi, English, and Hindi, making it accessible to a wider audience. In essence, my project provides a user-friendly way for people to enjoy videos in their preferred language and genre.
